Due to various reasons, the tar/oil didn't set because of heat and high amount of traffic. The County attempted to mediate the situation by adding sand to Northshore to soak up excess tar/oil. The County is planning to have the street swept next week to get everything set correctly. Calls are being directed to Union County or the contractor, The Road Guys.

Subject: McCook Lake Level 2016-07-18

The Lake Level is steadier than previous years. The Lake was fuller to start with and the level has been maintained by visually monitoring the level and shutting off the pump when appropriate.

Kelly Kistner has done quality measurements of the lake. He says that the clarity is higher this year. He can see his target 3 feet down. The improved clarity is not due to Zebra Mussels. There are not enough of them yet.

Part of the reason the clarity is better is because more of the water is coming from ground water and less from the river. 44% of the water now in the lake comes from the river via the pump. Last year 74% of the water in the lake originated from the River. To bore you with numbers..... The Lake holds about 900 million gallons when full. Last year the lake started with 500 million. The pump added another 1,500 million (that is 1.5 Billion) gallons over the season. About 1,100 million gallons were lost through seepage. What about the rain? 22 inches of rain in 6 months adds about 300 million gallons, but the evaporation rate is about equal to the rain fall so they cancel each other out. The simple way to put it is that about half to 3/4's of the water in any year (except 2011) comes from the river. By the way, in 2011 the water was very clear.

Kelly said that he found a few isolated Zebra Mussels on objects that were submerged over the winter. Weeds seem to be worse this year. Maybe because of the clarity and the higher water level. I applied herbicide last week. Probably too late for this year but early for next.

Kevin Stoos and I ran into the Chief of Police, Richard Headid. Great guy. He said that they have not caught the vandals that spray painted some cars in our neighborhood, but have a pretty good idea who it was. He would like to catch these vandals in the act or have some witnesses or video. He showed us this new security "Door Bell" that is at his house. It is called "ring". You might have seen it advertised. He showed us how it records to the Cloud all activity. He can answer the door from his phone. The point is that if more of these type units were around we could maybe catch the bad guys.

They are about $192, but Chief Headid said that you can get a discount if you put in your zip code 57049 .

These security system cameras have improved tremendously in quality and have dropped in price. I am getting a Swann 1080i HD camera and DVR. You can record for a week and it is only $500!! The point is that if more of us had these systems we would all be safer..
